FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Can I take a self-administered lateral flow test?

No, self-administered lateral flow tests are not acceptable for the purpose of complying with the required testing for incoming travellers. To comply with legal requirements, the lateral flow testing of travellers must be certified by a Registered Health Care Provider in the Cayman Islands.

Who pays for the test?

The costs of any COVID-19 testing undertaken to comply with Regulations regarding travel remains the responsibility of the traveller.

Where can I get tested?

Testing locations are available island-wide at approved hotels, clinics and private doctors offices. Please see the list on the back of this flyer.

What if I test positive?

Where a traveller tests positive for SARS-CoV-2, the positive result must be reported to Public Health by the registered Healthcare provider. In addition, the following actions are required:

- The traveller must self-isolate within their accommodation, and
- The tourist visitor and tourism accommodation provider must follow the protocols established and approved by Public Health for dealing with a SARS-CoV-2 positive tourist visitor.

Should I take this card with me around the island?

Hotels and other hospitality providers may require guests, for example, to present this card demonstrating that they are in compliance with testing requirements before allowing entry to high traffic areas such as restaurants and pools.
